Bill for Beefed-Up Automobile Bumper Passes Subcommittee

Paragraph

As we grow older it is not strange that we don't feel our oats half as much as we do our corns. —Arkansas Press Ass'n. Bulletin

The other day I reported that federal action to require American automobile manufacturers to put real bumpers on their vehicles seemed unlikely in the current session of Congress. But the latest news corrects that pessimistic outlook.

Washington dispatches reported Tuesday that a House Commerce subcommittee has approved a bill designed to cut car repair costs traceable to flimsy bumpers.

Your editor has been on this subject for years, especially when jolted by a personal experience. Just the other day I was seasawing the car back and forth a few feet to get out of a tight parking place behind the newspaper building; the rear bumper barely touched the building—and it cost $181 to straighten out a rear fender.

Countless auto owners have had identical experiences. Up through the early 1940's cars came with steel bumpers set well out from the body. The bumper had both strength and clearance.

But nowadays the cars of all American makes have light metal decorative bumpers with no compression room. The slightest bump is transmitted to the fender or body. I don't blame the repairmen for their high bills—the fault lies with design of all American cars.

Now the federal government proposes to do something about it. And much as I hate to advocate governmental interference with Detroit this is one time Detroit deserves it.

If my memory is correct I encountered the wrap-around bumper for the first time on a 1950 model. And that's when the repair-bill grief began.

Detroit has paid no attention to the public's squawks—so the time for federal action is at hand.

Kleindienst in More Trouble

By TOM SEPPY

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Senate Democrats say the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general may be in trouble because the White House won't permit staffer Peter Flanigan to testify in the controversy surrounding International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

The latest to join the growing opposition to the nomination is Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, the assistant Democratic leader and a member of the committee.

Sources close to Byrd said Wednesday he would vote against Kleindienst unless Flanigan testifies in the Judiciary Committee on his role in the out-of-court settlement of three antitrust suits against ITT, one of the biggest corporations in the United States.

Byrd told newsmen he would be influenced by either Flanigan's refusal to appear before the committee or the refusal of his superiors to let him testify.

John W. Dean III, counsel to President Nixon, in a letter to the committee released Wednesday, said the White House was refusing an informal telephone request for Flanigan to appear.

Subsequently, the committee rejected four Democratic efforts to have Flanigan, Nixon's liaison with the business community, called to testify.

Flanigan has become a key figure in the ITT controversy because he recruited a New York financial analyst to prepare a report which Justice Department officials say was a major factor in convincing them to abandon prosecution of the ITT antitrust case.

Byrd joined another influential Democrat in his opposition to Kleindienst's nomination—Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., sponsor of the first two motions to subpoena Flanigan.

"I have reached the point where I expect to oppose any consideration of the Kleindienst nomination," said Ervin after the committee rejected in closed session his motions to summon Flanigan.

The first rejected proposal by Ervin called for subpoenas to Flanigan, other White House aides and Justice Department officials mentioned during the hearings. His second called only for Flanigan and Nixon aide William Timmons.

The third unsuccessful motion, submitted by Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., called for subpoenaing Flanigan only.

Each was defeated 6 to 6 along partisan lines with chairman James Eastland abstaining. A majority vote is required for approval.

Nixon Prepares for Trip to Canada

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — President Nixon, who embarks on a 40-hour visit to Canada tonight, was cloistered at nearby Camp David today to put the finishing touches on a speech that could mean the success or failure of the journey.

Few officials expect anything approaching meaningful negotiations during the three-day visit, which comes at a time when economic disagreements beset the two countries.

Barely two hours of private discussions between Nixon and Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau are scheduled, and they are expected to touch on differences only in broad terms.

Nixon faces a re-election test in November and Trudeau almost certainly will win an election by October, making meaningful negotiations seem more difficult.

For Trudeau, more than for Nixon, across-the-border relations are a major political issue, making major concessions before the elections virtually impossible.

Ground breaking ceremonies for a new 50 unit motel to be located in Hope were held Wednesday, April 12. The new motel is to be located at the intersection of I-30 and state highway 29 in an 8.66 acre area to be known as North Park Plaza.

The two story building of masonry construction will be owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Dean Murphy of Hope. When completed in early September the complex will have a restaurant with coffee shop and banquet facilities. The banquet rooms will have a total seating capacity of 140 persons.

Motel rooms will feature king size beds, color television and background music and telephones. A large swimming pool will be available for use by motel guests.

General contractor for the construction of the motel is Tri-State Construction Company of Texarkana. Bill James, President, Citizens National Bank of Hope is financing the project. Fort Smith architect Kenneth Cochran designed the building.

Local contractors include Luke's Plumbing and Carlton Electric. Buck Rogers and Ambrose Robinson will do the dirt work and blacktopping.

Completion date is scheduled for Labor Day 1972.

Future plans for the North Park Plaza include a fast food service, barber shop, specialized clothing stores and several other retail outlets.

Mr. Murphy expressed his appreciation to Mayor Strong and to members of the city council for their efforts in helping to make the project possible.

Enemy Storms, Holds Part of Provincial Capital of An Loc

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of North Vietnamese troops stormed An Loc with tanks at dawn today and by late afternoon had taken half of the provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon, field reports said.

Heavy fighting raged in the streets at dusk, according to the reports.

Official reports reaching Saigon late today said the northern half of the town was in North Vietnamese hands and tanks had taken over the airfield.

Some reports said the 12,000 South Vietnamese troops in the town were rallying under the cover of hundreds of American air strikes. Field reports said the North Vietnamese had lost 34 armored vehicles.

It was the first time in the 15-day-old Communist offensive that the enemy had been able to drive into a provincial capital. President Nguyen Van Thieu ordered the defenders to hold at all cost.

Field reports said an armored column sliced into An Loc from the northeast and infantrymen from the north in a two-prong drive. The town is divided by Highway 13, with the newer portion and airfield on the north and the old section and provincial headquarters on the south.

The biggest gunship the U.S. Air Force has, the four-engine AC130, attacked the advancing troops. American jet fighter-bombers pounded the armored column. The American planes braved heavy antiaircraft fire, but none was reported shot down.

Field reports said the seven of the armored vehicles destroyed were Soviet T54 tanks, the most powerful the North Vietnamese have.

Several of the armored vehicles blasted their way into the city before they were knocked out.

South Vietnamese officers claimed 200 North Vietnamese had been killed.

Incomplete reports said 15 to 20 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and about 30 were wounded.

South Vietnamese rangers were reported in heavy, close combat with enemy forces a mile east of An Loc.

Nixon Decision

May Stop Withdrawals

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the United States sending ships and planes to Southeast Asia, 17 Senate and 34 House members have expressed concern to President Nixon over what they said "appears to be a major re-escalation of U.S. involvement in the war."

In a letter to the President they asked him for a full report on the size, purpose and cost of contemplated U.S. military action in Indochina.

"If news reports are accurate, our country is now assembling in Southeast Asia one of the largest air armadas in military history," the Members of Congress for Peace Through Law told Nixon.

"The use of such a force would certainly add not only to the destruction our bombing has already brought to the people and land of Indochina, but also to the number of American casualties and prisoners of war.

"We believe," their letter said, "the American people should be fully informed if such a major new commitment of lives and resources is, in fact, being made in Southeast Asia."

The United States has sent more than 180 war planes to Southeast Asia in the past 10 days for the air counterattack against North Vietnam's spring offensive.

Two Navy carriers with about 100 more attack planes are en route but it will take weeks for them to reach positions off Vietnam where four other carriers already are stationed.

Most of the air reinforcements have flown from the United States while the remainder have been drawn from bases in Japan and Okinawa. Several more air squadrons reportedly are on standby alert in the United States, but Pentagon sources indicated they may not go.

The new buildup approved by President Nixon has boosted American strength in South Vietnam, Thailand, Guam and aboard carriers off Vietnam to about 700 heavy bombers, fighter-bombers and other attack planes.

This is about twice as many strike planes as were in the war zone before February when the first air and carrier reinforcements were dispatched in anticipation of the offensive.

Meanwhile, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said President Nixon's decision on whether to continue U.S. troops withdrawals from Vietnam will depend on circumstances immediately before May 1.

Death Toll Climbs

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam's offensive sent allied casualty figures soaring last week with the U.S. Command reporting the highest American weekly toll in six months.

The weekly casualty summary said 12 Americans were killed in combat last week, 32 were wounded and 19 were missing in action. All the missing apparently were aboard aircraft lost to enemy action.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported a 73 per cent increase in casualties over the previous week with 641 government troops killed and 2,166 wounded. And enemy casualties claimed by the government increased nearly 40 per cent, from 2,150 two weeks ago to 2,987 last week.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,691 killed in action, 302,852 wounded, 10,816 dead from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnamese—138,454 killed in action, 349,873 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—808,663 killed.

Board Orders 2 Firms to Roll Back Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving swiftly, the Price Commission has issued orders to two large companies to roll back prices as a result of having profit margins larger than those allowed under present economic controls.

Browning-Ferris Industries, Inc., a waste management firm in Houston, and Harvest Markets, Inc., food retailers in Buffalo, N.Y., were ordered to drop prices within 10 days and report profit margins on a monthly basis until further notice.

The action, announced Wednesday, followed by a day the disclosure by Cost of Living Council Director Donald Rumsfeld that preliminary studies of first-quarter earnings of 105 firms indicated as much as 20 per cent of the country's biggest businesses were recording excess profit margins.

Browning-Ferris President Louis A. Waters, who had been notified of the commission action by chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr., said in a statement released in New York that his company has complied with federal regulations.

He said rapid growth, "coupled with substantial operating efficiencies and economies of scale, has generated record earnings as well as increased margins."

"We are confident that a review of the facts with the Price Commission will bear out our compliance not only with the letter, but with the spirit of the regulations," Waters said.

There was no immediate reaction from Harvest Markets.

Along with the orders for price reductions, the Price Commission issued an order for a subsidiary of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., Aimo Industries, Inc., to refund in full differences between base prices and selling prices of all brake shoe equipment sold between Jan. 3, and Feb. 23, 1972.

The commission said it found increased prices on brake shoe products sold by Aimo were in violation of commission requirements.

Astronauts Receive Refresher Course

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

—The Apollo 16 astronauts receive a refresher course in lunar geology today as the countdown continues on time for Sunday's liftoff to the moon.

John W. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly II have had extensive geology training but scheduled the session with lunar scientists to brush up on some aspects.

They will concentrate on surface landmarks they will track from lunar orbit. They also planned practice time in spaceship trainers.

At the launch pad, no problems were reported as the countdown clock ticked toward the planned liftoff time of 12:54 p.m. EST Sunday.

All three astronauts consider themselves pretty good amateur geologists and one of the main things Young and Duke are to look for as they explore the moon's mountainous highlands is evidence of ancient volcanoes.

Will they be able to recognize the evidence if they see it? "We certainly think so," Duke said in a recent interview. "Between 35 and 40 per cent of our training has been devoted to geology, and about 95 per cent of that time was spent in various types of volcanic terrain on earth."

Dr. William C. Pinney, chief of the geology branch at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, reported Young and Duke spent 36 days in field training.

"They've had about 28 hours of study of rocks, including about 20 hours in lunar rocks," he noted. "They spent a fair amount of time after the Apollo 15 mission looking at the various rocks as they were unpacked."

Pinney also said that Mattingly, who will orbit the moon alone for three days, has had 18 days of extensive landmark tracking training in a jet plane. "He has flown over meteorite impact structures, over volcanic fields and over areas where there is a lot of structural disturbance," he explained.

Mattingly is to operate a $10-million array of moon-mapping cameras and scientific instruments.

Nixon's Peace Talks Proposal Answered With an Invasion

By DAVID MASON
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — The chief of the U.S. delegation to the Vietnam peace talks revealed today that President Nixon made a secret proposal to the Vietnamese Communists to resume the talks today.

"The only response came in the form of a mushrooming invasion of the Republic of South Vietnam by North Vietnamese troops,"

Ambassador William J. Porter told an airport news conference as he returned from consultations in the United States.

Nixon made his secret proposal "through a private channel" on April 1, Porter said, and the Communist side received it the next day. The proposal thus was made two days after the first effect of the big North Vietnamese offensive below the demilitarized zone was felt. The South Vietnamese on March 30 were driven from the first of the string of border bases they lost.

Porter gave no clue to the identity of the private channel and did not explain why Nixon made his proposal in that fashion and secretly.

The ambassador said he thought it "useful" to make a statement "to clear away the rubbish which has accumulated around the Paris peace talks."

It seemed likely that his statement was in reply to a French government statement Wednesday urging that the peace talks be resumed promptly, a statement that the State Department said was "one-sided ... because it picks up demands of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations."

Porter said the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong "raised the cry that we were sabotaging the negotiations."

"How you can sabotage anything which they never permitted to exist is quite a question," he commented.

"I can reveal to you for the first time," Porter went on, "that after a thorough review of the situation, President Nixon personally directed that a message be sent through a private channel to the other side stating our willingness to resume the Paris talks on April 13. The only response to this overture came in the form of a mushrooming invasion of the Republic of South Vietnam by North Vietnamese troops and the classic example of prevarication in the Viet Cong statement that no North Vietnamese troops were involved in that military operation."

The U.S. diplomat recalled that the Communist side has since said it wants more meetings of the peace talks.

"We don't doubt it," Porter commented, "but no one who is familiar with the history of the Paris talks can claim that the fact of having meetings is equivalent to the fact of negotiations."

"If there is a real desire to negotiate, the other side, as we have told them, can communicate that to us through any channel of their choosing."

Two for Price of One

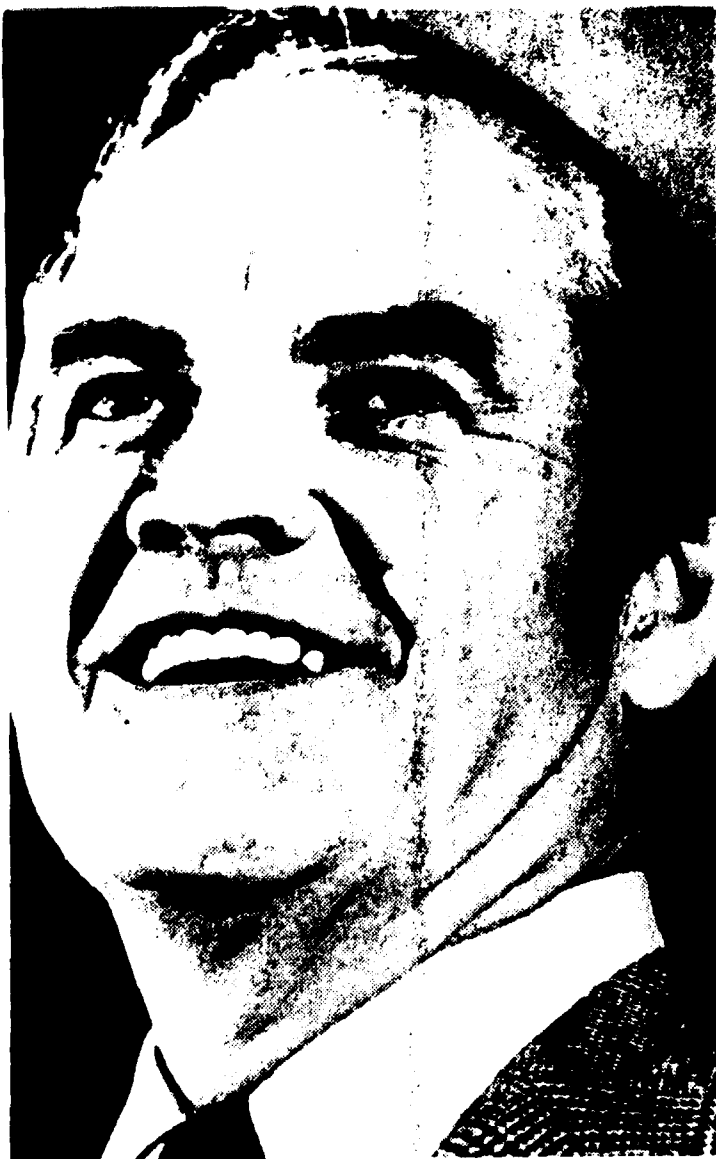

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Three pregnant mares begin a sea journey today to Adak Island in the Aleutians.

The horses are intended primarily for recreational riding by Navy personnel on the bleak, wind-swept island.

The mares will be transported aboard a Military Sealift Command vessel. Eleven horses were hauled to the Adak Navy base from Kodiak last January.

The choice of pregnant mares is a matter of economy, says Bill Adams, the Auburn, Wash., rancher who sold the animals to the Navy. He says the Navy gets six horses for the shipping price of three.

Richmond School Case Arguments

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Oral arguments began today before the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on the landmark U.S. District Court order directing the merger of Richmond area schools to achieve racial balance.

The Jan. 10 order by U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige would create a metropolitan school district of 104,000 pupils, 78,000 of whom would be bused to give all schools in the district a black pupil percentage of from 20 to 40.

Comprising the school district would be the predominantly black schools of Richmond and the overwhelmingly white schools of suburban Henrico and Chesterfield counties.

The two counties and the State Board of Education contend that the counties are now operating unitary school systems in accordance with the law and that trial judge engaged in "judicial overreach" in ignoring city and county boundary lines.

Richmond's school board, which brought the consolidation suit, contends it cannot provide equality of education unless the school systems are merged.

The Justice Department has also intervened in the case, urging a go-slow policy in line with President Nixon's position on school busing.

The federal agency, in its friend of the court brief, wants the appeals court to either reverse Merhige, modify his order of defer action until Congress acts on the President's proposals.

Under Merhige's order, the consolidation was to go into effect with the start of the September school term.

JOE ZINGER

Joe Zinger of Magnolia presented a most impressive program at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting. He was introduced by Kiwanian Rudy Fick who arranged the program.

Mr. Zinger stated that when he becomes depressed by the things he reads, the things he sees on T. V. and hears on the radio that he takes his camera and his binoculars and goes into the fields where God's handiwork is evident and where he can forget the world's troubles.

The speaker is a talented photographer and a nature lover. His presentation was a color slide show with taped commentary entitled "The Lilies of the Fields."

Mr. Zinger's slide show starts with beautiful close up pictures of various flowers, then progresses to show the beauties of nature, the mountains, the streams, the woodlands, the birds, the animals and the fruits and flowers with which God has so abundantly blessed this land.

A viewer cannot but be impressed with the artistry of Mr. Zinger and more so with the extreme beauty of the unpolluted areas of our country shown in his slides.

Visitors at Tuesday's meeting were Mrs. Harry Hawthorne and grandson, William Worskie, Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton and grandson, Ken Rogers, Mrs. Marion Holder, Mrs. Mable Bramlett, Mrs. Rudy Fick, Mrs. Jim Hart, Mrs. W. H. Peterson, Jr., and visiting Kiwanian Dick McGuire of Texarkana

Air Passengers Are Overcharged

By DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's airlines are overcharging passengers by an estimated $15 million a year on 27,000 routes, Consumers Union said today, one day after the government issued a new regulation on fares.

The routes cited in the latest Civil Aeronautics Board ruling and the upcoming issue of Consumer Reports magazine are those with unpublished fares.

As of now the rates are computed by simply adding up the combined rates for two legs on a flight. Consumers Union charged that most ticket agents have been adding wrong.

An IRS spokesman said the information on Anderson would be submitted to the Grand Jury for the Western District of Arkansas.

25 Aboard Lost Plane

RIO DE JANEIRO, (AP) — A twin engine Brazilian airliner, carrying 25 persons, crash-landed in the hills near Rio de Janeiro early today, the Air Force announced. It added that there were several survivors.

The crash site was located after a massive search along the beaches and in the hills of the Rio area. One American was known to be aboard the plane.

The turboprop plane left Wednesday night and later made contact with the control tower in Rio but never landed. Checks were made without success and the search was extended to beaches.

VASP, one of several carriers providing commuter service between the two cities, reported there were 20 passengers and a crew of five aboard.

McClellan Attacked on S&L Decision

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Foster Johnson of Little Rock, a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, continued Wednesday his attack on the financial ties of Sen. John L. McClellan.

Johnson is one of three opponents of McClellan in the Democratic senatorial race.

He said that McClellan was instrumental in federal disapproval of a savings and loan association's application several years ago to open a branch office in Little Rock.

Johnson said the application had been made "a few years back" by Pulaski Federal Savings and Loan Association.

He said that since the association held a federal charter, approval to open the branch was required from the federal comptroller of the treasury.

"Since the senator does not have any stock — and could not get any — in PFS, approval was turned down," Johnson said.

Johnson said a charter then was granted American Savings and Loan Association to do business on the site Pulaski Federal had sought for its branch office. Johnson said one of the original stockholders of American Savings was McClellan's son-in-law, Harry McDermott Jr.

Johnson said American Savings later merged with Capital Savings and Loan Association. McClellan has reported in a code of ethics statement filed with the secretary of state's office that he held an interest in excess of $1,000 in Capital Savings and Loan last year.

McDermott said Wednesday he had owned stock in American Savings and Loan, but sold it after the merger with Capital.

Johnson previously questioned McClellan's financial ties, saying earlier this week that the senator's holdings in several banks and savings and loan associations was a conflict of interest.

Gas Company Denied Rehearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oklahoma Natural Gas Co. was denied a rehearing Wednesday by the Federal Power Commission in a case in which Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. won authority to build a pipeline project in Texas and Oklahoma's panhandles.

The FPC said "no new facts or legal principles" had been brought forth to change its opinion about its Feb. 18 go-ahead to Arkla.

The pipeline will deliver additional gas to the firm's customers in five southwestern states.

The Oklahoma firm sought to block approval because it seeks to buy gas from the same Anadarko basin reserves.

The Oklahoma company's petition said the Arkla entry into the deep Anadarko basin will complicate problems of interstate and interstate gas companies which look to the area for supplies.

Helen and Sue Bottel The Generation Rap

Do Peace and Violence Mix?

DEAR RAP: Today's youth is peace loving, right? No more wars; "treat me tender"; care about each other, and all that jazz.

So tell me this: why do they flock to movies about violence, like "Straw Dogs," "A Clockwork Orange," "Dirty Harry"? How come they stay up to watch the late, late horror shows?—CURIOUS DEAR CURIOUS:

Violence forever attracts because it shocks: Just as many sports, from racing to ski-jumping, root their basic appeal in danger, so do many viewers like the "safe" danger of watching make-believe people's blood spatter.

I'm not one of these viewers: even such hoked-up stuff as "Night Gallery" gives me the crawls. So I'll pass your question on to the younger generation. Sue: take it, kid—HELEN DEAR CURIOUS:

I'd just as soon NOT take this question because I'm not a violence freak either. Even extreme curiosity—I keep telling myself—couldn't lure me to "A Clockwork Orange."

But I believe a lot of young people see these shows to be reassured. They go in with the attitude, "Our world is in a big mess!" And they come out saying, "I'm glad things aren't that bad!"—SUE DEAR RAP:

I know you can't answer all my questions about VD, but tell me this: if you have it once and are cured, are you immune?—HOPEFUL DEAR HOPEFUL:

Absolutely NOT! You run the chance of reinfection each time you make it with someone who has the disease.—HELEN AND SUE DEAR READERS:

You can find almost all the program, she used as her subject, "Creativity and Religion" bringing out that both were similar, simple involving inspiration, judgment, action and discipline. During social period coffee, punch and cake was served to 17 members present answers in a FREE booklet, "FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT VD BUT PROBABLY DON'T." Send your requests to:

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Health and Welfare Division One Madison Avenue New York, N.Y., 10010.

DEAR HELEN:

Which topics brought most reader response during the late winter?—ALWAYS INTERESTED DEAR A.I.: "Unwed motherhood," and "Jesus Christ Superstar." The first inspired such a variety of interesting responses that we'll devote a whole column to them this weekend.

The second? It brought Sue an armload of brickbats—for her favorable review.

Members of certain denominations, we learn, consider this rock opera dangerously sacrilegious. When Sue agreed with another "Superstar" enthusiast that its great music would not corrupt teenage listeners, these good people flooded us with pamphlets, booklets, articles, proclamations and personal letters, all blasting "JCS" as a work of the Devil. Ah, so—HELEN

P.S. Third place on our "response meter" was earned by the question, "How can a non-Christian minority insist we ban Christmas trees, etc. from our public schools?" I found out! Evidently the complete separation of church and state caused a bitter fight in certain eastern states last year. And quite a few rocks were thrown my way because I stood for Christmas trees. Honest, I never once thought of them as religious symbols, but only as happy traditions.—H. (NOTE FROM "RAP" TO "RAP": Politics and religion are dangerous subjects. Avoid em!)

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "The Marty Feldman Comedy Machine" arrived on ABC Wednesday night for a summer's stay and looked much like a short-order version of "Laugh-In."

It was a half hour of sight gags, pantomime and a couple of stabs at satire. Remarkably, the satire worked better than the rest of the show.

Feldman is a British comic of the broad, silent school that included—at another level—Charlie Chaplin and Buster Keaton. Marty's most intense involvement in the premiere was a sketch in which he attempted to pick a curiously resistant daffodil for a lady on a park bench. It ended when he pulled in a bulldozer to do the job.

The most effective sketches were the spoofs. First there was a dead pan imitation of the typical TV treatment of a famous person. Then there was a satire on TV's way with a nature study.

Orson Welles narrated in a properly reverent voice an account of the career of Henry Riddle, "cameraman extraordinaire," and showed clips of his exciting life. Feldman played all the parts.

Best of all was the account of the status of Britain's most endangered species, the aristocrats, who Welles explained are threatened by a loss of servants. The last of the species were observed from a discreet distance in a "nobility sanctuary" as a pride of peers gambled on the green and ate cucumber tea sandwiches.

Stuck in here and there were some quick but elderly gags.

"The Smith Family" returned for its final ABC fling. Detective Chad Smith, grim and noble as ever, was a spectator to a supermarket holdup and narrowly escaped being thought of as coward because he quietly obeyed the robbers' orders. But before the final commercial, he cornered one malefactor under perilous circumstances.

It is a pleasant series but a dull one, possibly because of star Henry Fonda's low-key performing style but also because it constantly seems to be delivering a message.

"The Smith Family" will only be around for a couple of more months, however. ABC announced Wednesday it plans to drop "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," Fonda's show and "The Persuaders" in mid-June and launch two new situation comedies.

"The Super" will follow the adventures of the superintendent of a low-income apartment house, and "The corner Bar" will concern itself with the goings on in a New York neighborhood pub. "The Persuaders" will be replaced by reruns of "The Kopy Kats," seen earlier in the evening since the first of the year.

Guest Speaker at Church

James A. (Jackie) Ryan, Jr., of Gurdon will be the guest speaker at the First Presbyterian Church in Hope at the 11:00 o'clock morning service on Sunday, April 16.

Mr. Ryan is presently a student at Ouachita University, and is a candidate for the ministry under the care of Ouachita Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Coming, Going

Mrs. Frank C. Malone of Austin and George Hutson of Waco will arrive Sunday to spend a few days with their mother, Mrs. Claudia Hutson, and help her celebrate her 87th birthday.

Mrs. C. F. Baker has as house guest, Mrs. B. W. Torbert of Morrilton.

Last weekend Mrs. Lowell Tackett of Little Rock and Mrs. Farmer Tackett of Malvern visited Mrs. Ed McCorkle and Mrs. Martha Barker. Mrs. John Baird and her granddaughter, Aneke Emrick, both of Colorado Springs, Colo., arrived Monday and are visiting this week with Mrs. McCorkle and Mrs. Barker.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis, Louann and Kay have returned home to Detroit after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Haggard.

Baseball Melodrama Shifts

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing melodrama of baseball's stalled season shifted scenes to Chicago today where the 24 major league owners were to consider another proposal designed to end the player strike as it moved into its 13th day.

"We have worked out a new offer and we are closer to a settlement," reported Marvin Miller, executive director of the striking Players' Association, following two separate meetings Wednesday with John Gaherin, negotiator for the owners.

Miller scotched early reports that the strike had been settled but indicated the two sides were edging closer toward an agreement.

Gaherin, on his way to Chicago for the meeting of owners, said the only matter still in contention was the question of paying the players for any games postponed by the strike but made up later in the season. "Everything else is in place," Gaherin said.

The players reportedly have softened their rigid stand that they be paid their full salaries if they play a full 162-game schedule. One report said that Gaherin was carrying with him a player proposal quite similar to the last offer made by the owners and that the strike could end today.

The issue no longer is the pension question which touched off baseball's first general strike almost two weeks ago. That matter was settled by a compromise $500,000 contribution agreed to by the owners during marathon negotiations Tuesday.

Now, the players are questioning on what basis they will be paid when they go back to work.

"It's a simple proposition," said Gaherin. "We say, if we attempt to make up some or any of the games postponed so far and in so doing we create a situation where an admission will be charged for the games, we'll pay them. But if we bring it in as a single admission doubleheader, we owe them nothing additional."

The owners are steadfast in refusing to pay the players for the time they were on strike. By that reasoning, pay for the 13 days the players have missed would be eliminated. The players argue that if they are asked to play the full 162-game schedule, they should be paid for that full schedule.

Complicating the issue is a split between the two leagues on whether the games missed so far should be made up at all. National League owners are believed insisting on playing the full schedule and fitting the postponed games into the season. American League owners are willing to forget the postponed dates and pick up the season in progress.

That was certain to be one of the main subjects for discussion at today's meeting.

Johnson to Phoenix

BAITIMORE (AP) — Gus Johnson, the flamboyant "Honkeycomb," will take his flashy wardrobe and—hopefully—his spectacular dunk shot to Phoenix for the next National Basketball Association season.

Traded by Baltimore Wednesday, the last of the original Bullets will be trying to bounce back from two knee operations when he reports to the Suns.

"If he has a little of the old Bullet left in him," said Phoenix General Manager Jerry Colangelo, "he'll help us. I'm placing a great deal of merit in the man's pride."

A second team All-NBA choice four times and a competitor in five All-Star games, Johnson was used sparingly in 39 games during the past season while recovering from two cartilage operations.

With a meager scoring average of 6.4 points, compared with a lifetime mark of 17.4, Gus had few opportunities to smile and exhibit the gold star imbedded in a front tooth.

His running and leaping ability severely limited, Johnson could no longer turn on crowds by snaring a rebound with one hand and using a windmill sweep to jam it into the basket. But he remained flashy off the court with mod attire, about 100 pairs of shoes, and a car equipped with television, stereo tracks and a bar.

"I feel like a free man," Johnson said when the trade was announced. "There was a lot of pressure on me because of my knee injuries, pressure on the club and on Gene (Coach Gene Shue)."

The 33-year-old Johnson has another season to go on a two-year contract worth $110,000 annually, which paid him about $180 for each minute played this season.

A broken wrist, a broken ankle and recurring knee problems have limited Johnson's activities throughout his career.

Johnson is Baltimore's all-time leading rebounder with 7,133 or 12.7 a game, and second in scoring with 9,781 for a 17.4 average.

In exchange for Johnson, the Bullets received a second round choice in Monday's draft, choosing Tom Patterson of Ouachita Baptist, and "other considerations" not yet revealed.

Lakers Square Up the Series

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "That was probably the most significant victory of the year for us," declared Los Angeles Laker Coach Bill Sharman following his club's 135-134 triumph which squared the playoff series with Milwaukee at one apiece.

But as the clubs headed for Milwaukee and Friday's game No. 3 in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association Western playoff finals, controversy still raged over the play that brought the final two Los Angeles points Wednesday night.

"Hairston traveled along the baseline," argued Buck Coach Larry Costello. "He ran at least 2 1/2 steps and never put the ball down."

Costello also asserted that official Manny Sokol was out of position when West lost control of the ball, which hit the official before West retrieved it.

In any event, Hairston's layup put the Lakers ahead 135-132. Before the buzzer, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar added the final two of his game production of 40 points for Milwaukee.

He was outscored, however, by the Lakers' Jim McMillan, who hit a career high of 42, including 17 in the third quarter when the Lakers built a 10-point lead.

Sharman commented, "When you lose the way we did on Sunday, it can really affect your confidence, but this game should help us get it back."

That's why he called it the most significant victory of a season during which the Lakers won a record 33 in a row and 69 overall for another NBA mark.

All told, the lead changed hands 14 times during the Forum struggle Wednesday before a capacity crowd of 17,505. The score was knotted on nine occasions.

At the end of the third quarter, the Lakers led 106-96. But when Bob Dandridge of the Bucks fouled out, Jon McGlocklin came on to lead a Milwaukee rally with 12 points. The clock showed 1:17 left when his sixth field goal of the period put the Bucks ahead 130-129.

But then McGlocklin fouled McMillan, who sank two free throws, and a 20-foot West jumper gave the Lakers a three-point lead.

Jabbar cut it to one before Hairston's decisive basket. Hairston finished with 17 points. Gail Goodrich had 25 for

AM&N May Withdraw

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The Athletic Committee of Arkansas AM&N College here has charged that the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference failed to abide by the league constitution and recommended that AM&N withdraw from membership in the AIC.

The AIC voted Saturday to cancel all athletic competition between AM&N and other conference members during the 1972-73 school year and to place AM&N on probation for the same period. The AIC took the action because of a riot that resulted in the District 17 NAIA basketball playoff March 6 at Arkadelphia. Police contended that AM&N supporters were chiefly responsible for the incident.

The AM&N Committee said after a meeting Tuesday that it felt the AIC did not abide by the constitution in its decisions. The group quoted the conference constitution as saying that a member institution on probation must continue playing a full conference schedule, but may not compete for conference championships. The committee also charged that the AIC faculty representatives violated the constitution by failing to notify AM&N of any specific charges or violations.

The Athletic Committee said the action was "uncalled for, unnecessary and could cause considerable damage to the future of intercollegiate athletics here at AM&N."

A spokesman said any action to withdraw from the AIC would require the approval of the AM&N administration and the school's Board of Trustees.

Blocking Not Up to Par

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday the Arkansas Razorbacks' offensive blocking has not been what it should be and that it showed up in a goal-line scrimmage from the Wishbone offense Wednesday.

Sophomore quarterbacks Mark Miller of Augusta and John Booty of Shreveport, La., took turns running the offense. Broyles said No. 1 quarterback Joe Ferguson was kept out "because he's worked in this type situation before."

The offense scored just twice during the session. "We'll have to do this all over again tomorrow," Broyles said.

The Razorbacks' first Red-White game will be here Saturday afternoon.

Bibby, Nader Picked

NEW YORK (AP) — Herb Bibby, a starting guard on UCLA's national championship basketball team, and Sven Nader, backup center for the Bruins, have been selected in the American Basketball Association's draft.

Bibby was picked by the Carolina Cougars in the eighth round of Wednesday's draft, which included rounds six through 20. Bibby previously was selected by the New York Knicks in the National Basketball Association draft.

Nader, a 6-foot-11 redshirt, was No. 2 center for UCLA behind All-American Bill Walton.

The ABA excluded underclassmen in its Wednesday draft. The first five rounds were conducted in secret last month although a number of teams have announced their choices or leaked them to the press.

Chinese Table Tennis Team Welcomed to U.S.

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The visiting table tennis team from the People's Republic of China is being winned and dined in splendor before buckling down to its first match.

The 14-member team, hosted Wednesday night by Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs, will dine tonight in the English grandeur of Meadowbrook Hall at Oakland University in Rochester.

The delegation arrived earlier Wednesday at Metropolitan Airport and was met by a team of U.S. table tennis players.

The two-week Chinese tour of the United States follows a 10-day visit to Canada.

The weather was warm and sunny as the Chinese squad's chartered plane, with U.S. and Chinese flags painted on its nose, arrived at the terminal, where about 100 newsmen waited under tight police security. The airport reception was low-key and marked by twenty minutes of speeches. The Chinese were reserved in their responses to reporters' questions.

Chuang Tse-tung, leader of the visiting delegation and considered the most brilliant table tennis player in the world, was the only Chinese speaker at the airport or at the mayor's mansion.

"Our delegation has come to the United States in the spirit of friendship first, competition second," the three-time men's singles world champion said.

No demonstrations marred the team's first day in the country.

After the delegation had rested at a hotel, Mayor Gribbs greeted the visitors at his mansion where they mingled with the U.S. players and sipped predinner drinks.

McMillan Was Tops

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim McMillan scored a career-high 42 points but it was a basket by Happy Hairston which proved decisive Wednesday night as the Los Angeles Lakers edged the Milwaukee Bucks 135-134 and evened their National Basketball Association Western playoff finals at one game apiece.

Hairston put the Lakers into a 135-132 advantage with six seconds left in the game as he took a pass from Jerry West and even Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's field goal left the defending champions a point short.

Jabbar tallied 40 points and West had 28.

The final minute was a wild one.

McMillan's two free throws put the Lakers ahead 131-130 with the clock showing 1:01. With 56 seconds left, Jon McGlocklin missed and Wilt Chamberlain rebounded for the Lakers, setting up a 20-foot jumper by West and a three point lead.

Jabbar cut it to one and then Hairston sank his layup that won it, to the delight of a sell-out crowd of 17,505 at the Forum.

The Lakers led 72-66 at the half—their point production exactly matching that of the entire first game which they lost 93-72 Sunday.

In the rebounding department, Chamberlain hauled down 17 while Jabbar grabbed seven and was outbounded by his teammate Curtis Perry, who had a dozen.

Expects Tennis War

NEW YORK (AP) — A top official of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association said Wednesday he expects warring factions of the professional tennis world to make peace this weekend at a meeting of the International Lawn Tennis Federation in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Federation rules bar contract pros from playing at Wimbledon and in U. S. championships, and from competing for the Davis Cup.

"Hopefully, we'll be able to have open tennis after the meetings," Walter E. Elcock, first vice president of the U. S. association said in a telephone interview Wednesday with the New York Times.

Elcock and several other U.S. association officials have drawn up a peace proposal with Lamar Hunt, owner of the World Championship Tennis, the contract pro group.

The proposals, which will be presented to the international association, would let Hunt coordinate the international tournament calendar for the first four months of 1973 and the federation the last eight months.

Lady Ump Connects

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Bernice Gera, who struck out before, finally has connected.

The 40-year-old Mrs. Gera struck a blow for the middle-aged female set—not to mention women's liberation—when she received a favorable court ruling Wednesday in her bid to become a baseball umpire.

With the court behind her, it appeared that she would at last get approval from the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues to umpire in the Class A New York-Pennsylvania League.

Mrs. Gera signed a contract in 1969 with league president Vince McNamara, only to have it rejected by Hank Peters, president of the NAPBL, which controls minor league baseball.

She said the decision discriminated against her because of her sex. Mrs. Gera carried her fight to the New York Commission on Human Rights and filed a court suit against baseball, naming Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and McNamara among the defendants.

Her long fight finally culminated as she left court clutching her contract Wednesday.

Aaron Figured for Monsanto Open

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — "Tommy Aaron's got a good chance," the guy said, looking over the field for the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament.

"A real good chance—just so long as he doesn't tie with George Archer."

Aaron has lost to Archer in playoffs two times this season after they had matched leading scores over the regulation 72 holes. Surprisingly, he doesn't feel he's playing that well.

"I haven't been at all consistent this year," the 35-year-old Aaron said.

Still, his two second place finishes, when he lost to Archer over 18 holes in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open and again on the second hole of a sudden death playoff at Greensboro, have helped him win $43,844 this season.

Second is nothing new to Aaron. He's finished there numerous times and it got to be something of a burden until he won the 1969 Canadian Open and the 1970 Atlanta Classic for his only two titles.

He had the tag "Perennial Bridesmaid."

"But, you know, like I used to say: with the competition we have out here now, with all the good players, you have to play pretty good to finish second."

In 12 years on the tour, Aaron has accumulated more than $550,000 in earnings, and ranks in the all-time top 20. His best was 1970, when he had winnings of $97,827. He slipped to a little over $71,000 last season when he failed to record a victory—or even a second.

He appears to be back in gear this season, however, and ranked as one of the men to beat in the Monsanto, which started today on the 6,679 yard Pensacola Country Club Course.

Lee Trevino, the 1971 Athlete of the Year, and Archer, with some $99,000 in winnings already this season, were the two top choices.

Other leading candidates for the $30,000 first prize included Australian Bruce Crampton, who tied for second in last week's Masters, Jimmy Jamieson, who challenged Jack Nicklaus for the Masters title, 1972 winners Tony Jacklin, Homero Blancas, Grier Jones and Jerry Heard, and rookie Lanny Wadkins.

Nicklaus, along with Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper, are taking time off this week. Gary Player has gone home to South Africa. The 1971 Monsanto winner, Gene Littler, is recovering from surgery.

Slaps British Meet

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Billie Jean King gave Britain's Wimbledon tournament a backhand slap Wednesday and threatened to quit playing in the famed tennis tournament if prize money isn't increased.

"The top prize for women at Wimbledon is $3,600," said the 28-year-old pro, "yet they gross $1.3 million during the two-week event."

Mrs. King is in St. Petersburg for another stop on the Virginia Slims tour, from which she earned over $100,000 last year.

Billie Jean, a three-time Wimbledon winner, was upset last year by Australia's Evonne Goolagong. As a result, Miss Goolagong is now rated as the world's No. 1 woman tennis player.

"I go crazy when I'm introduced as the No. 2 player in the world," said Mrs. King. "I had my best year in 1971. How can they name a champion from only one tournament?"

Billie Jean, although singling out Wimbledon by name, lashed out at tennis in general.

"People have to realize that big business and sports are one and the same," she said. "The ones getting short-changed are the players. Tennis purses must go up."

Billie Jean hasn't been as successful this year. She hasn't won in the last four tournaments.

"I've had trouble getting psyched up," she said. "I like being on top, enjoy the challenge, but when you're up there, the other 30 or so players are trying to shoot you down every week."

Mrs. King said she planned to play Wimbledon this year, but "it might be my last unless their format is changed."

Queen Makes State Visit

LONDON (AP) — Queen Juliana of The Netherlands and her husband Prince Bernhard have arrived in Britain for a five-day state visit.

Queen Elizabeth II met the Dutch couple at the gates of Windsor Home Park on their arrival Tuesday and they drove together in a ceremonial carriage to Windsor Castle.

Nixon Informed of Play Visit Received

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The text of a White House news summary prepared for President Nixon while he was in China discloses that the President was kept informed in minute detail of the news play his trip was getting.

In an unusual public surfacing of one of these presidential digests, the Washington News Committee of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association printed the full text in its monthly newsletter.

The newsletter, prepared by committee chairman Courtney R. Sheldon, chief of the Washington news bureau of the Christian Science Monitor, said the text was obtained in China.

"It was dated Feb. 25, the fifth day of Mr. Nixon's presence in China," the newsletter said, "and deals only with the gist of TV in a portion of one day and from regional newspapers only. This and a flood of companion reports on what the news media were saying were circulated privately among administration officials."

The news summary contained reports of what each major network had said or shown during evening newscasts. It also detailed newspaper play, down to number and location of pictures, position of stories and headlines.

The only mention of other news events in the news summary was reference to school busing and the hijacking of an airliner on which Joseph Kennedy was a passenger when these stories competed with Nixon for headlines.

Here are some excerpts from the text—abbreviations used include RN Richard Nixon, WH White House.

NBC led with 5:20 from the banquet—the last formal function ... NRC then had a minute on the uniquely Chinese snow showing ... Then 2:00 Kaplow from Forbidden City. Both better film audio of RN that was case in live coverage. Thurs Nite. The snow added to photos, said Kaplow, and photos are considered by WH to be an important part of trip ...

For 2nd night in row CBS led with the busing story ... Then came over 5 minutes led by Rather who said likelihood of a 2nd RN-Mao meeting has been reduced if not eliminated ...

Then to film from Forbidden City where RN was described in good humor ...

Still frustrated in getting news was Cronkite lead on next report as he said reporters were again turning to sight-seeing ...

Last 3 minutes of CBS (about 12:00) on China with Seavard walking along streets awed, tho also somewhat frightened, by the totalitarian control which results in thousands and thousands turning out to shovel the snow ...

Prescott Man Tells of '80 Years in Arkansas'

MR. AND MRS. J.W. BAKER

"80 Years In Arkansas" by J. W. Baker of Prescott, soon to be released from the printer, is a veritable storehouse of memorabilia of activities, duties, pleasures and beliefs of Mr. Average American.

"80 Years In Arkansas" has twelve chapters. Except one chapter, "Memoirs", the book is not biographical but relates in a "folksy" manner, facts of life in Clark and Nevada Counties - life in all facets: home, public office, public works, farming and more.

Mr. Baker recalls watching his first pants being made of wool sheared from sheep, spun and woven, cut and made by hand. He walked three miles to his first school. When he was 13, he read a book, "Three Years In Arkansas" which left a mark on his memory. At age 17, he taught his first school for $40.00 per month, paying $6.00 per month for room and board.

Miss Stella Box and J. W. Baker married in 1915; they have four children. He says they have "39 Kids". They lived through the '30's by milking 6 to 8 cows by hand and skimming the cream. At the end of each week they carried it to Prescott and sold it for $1.50 to $2.00 and brought the groceries they needed.

Better days and years came. Mr. Baker often uses the expression "double life" by which he means he was carrying or doing two jobs. He speaks often of his friends and writes "Bam" when the "bottom" seemed to "drop out" for them.

Another very thoughtful and thought provoking chapter is Mr. B's response to a very modern book, "Letters to Young People".

"80 Years In Arkansas" is most vividly portrayed by the pictures in this book; a plow of the early days versus modern farm machinery, a road (really a trail) and today's highways, a farm home and our modern farm home.

This book is hard to classify; it is non-fiction and a thoroughly entertaining reading of the thoughts, deeds and memories of a good American, a Nevada County, Arkansas citizen.

Let Buyer Beware

By CHET CURRIER

Associated Press Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Caveat emptor: Let the buyer beware.

In Latin or English it is good advice, but sometimes a little difficult to put into practice.

I read consumer magazines. I check warranties and dutifully mail in the little cards within three days of the date of delivery. I shop around before I buy.

But after the last few weeks—during which I took my first trip abroad and "celebrated" a birthday—I'm in the market for a new approach.

The story begins in England on the morning of that birthday.

For more than two hours my wife and I tried unsuccessfully to start the car we had obtained a day and a half before from a rental agency.

The company eventually provided us with a substitute and reduced our $50 bill by about $8. But by the time we had had to cancel most of our plans for the last day of a brief and expensive vacation.

"Let's not let it bother us," my wife counseled. "So we lost some time. We've had a great trip otherwise. We're bound to have some problems."

Unlucky words, those last. Skip now about 24 hours onward to our return home, and our discovery that our $400 television set had celebrated a birthday of its own. Less than two months after the expiration of its one-year warranty, it had stopped producing a picture.

"You've got problems," said the man who came to take it away, muttering something about high-voltage deficiencies and discarding a couple of blackened tubes.

He wasn't our only visitor that week. There was the man from a block down the street, who came to tell us there was a package from a department store-mail order firm in his driveway.

"I'm glad I found you. It's been sitting there about a week," he said.

At my wife said, "That's the cabinet my parents ordered for your birthday. It was supposed to come last week. We've been trying to get the store to tell us what happened to it." It wasn't long after we finished laboriously lugging home that large largesse when the mailman brought another gift.

Not many days before, he had come with a letter from the state Revenue Department, suggesting that the $30 consultant had been wrong when he advised us how to file our tax returns.

This time he had a book I had been wanting very much, sent by my mother from Pennsylvania.

I had just enough time to savor the thought of reading it when I discovered it had two each of pages 121-144 and none of pages 97-120.

The book was by sports columnist Larry Merchant. It is called ".... And Every Day You Take Another Bite."

Lineups Set for Hog Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Whit team will have five sophomores on offense and the Red team four sophomores in the University of Arkansas' intrasquad football game here Saturday.

The remainder of the White defensive unit includes Bill Goto and Jim Brawner at ends, David Reavis at tackle, Danny Rhodes and Ed Rownd at linebackers and Jim Irwin at left corner.

Sophomores on the Red defensive unit include linebacker Billy Burns, tackle John Rhiddlehoever, end Ray Strain and free safety Tom Warren.

Others on the Red defensive unit are linebackers Randy Crowder and Scott Binion, end Les Williams, tackle Don Wunderly, cornerbacks Mike Davis and Louis Campbell and strong safety Clark Irwin.

The second Red-White game will be played in Little Rock at 7:30 p.m. April 22.

Drunken Drivers Pose Threat to Motorists

KANSAS CITY (AP) —

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe warned of the dangers the nation's motorists face from drunk drivers, and minutes later narrowly missed becoming the victim of one himself.

"We must get the drunk driver, the alcoholic, off the road before he kills himself or others," Volpe told the annual dinner of the National Council on Alcoholism here Wednesday night.

Then, en route to Municipal Air Terminal, the limousine in which Volpe was riding narrowly escaped a head-on collision with a car driven on the wrong side of a highway median by a driver who police said was intoxicated.

Volpe's limousine and a police car preceding it were forced to swerve to the curb.

Patrolman Gerald Fletcher arrested the driver after the car stopped on the median strip. A breath analyzer test set the driver's blood-alcohol content at .20 per cent, above the state legal limit of .15 for intoxication.

In his speech, Volpe said at least 800,000 alcoholics are involved in the two million auto crashes recorded in the United States each year.

"This amounts to 6 per cent of our drivers involved in 40 per cent of the accidents," the former Massachusetts governor said.

Bethel Church Installs New Organ

The congregation of Bethel A. M. E. Church has expanded its music ministry into the purchasing of a new organ accompanied with a separate tone cabinet consisting of three directional speakers and one concentrated amplifier.

The organ, a large transistorized electronic Baldwin model offers the music department and worshippers the services of several distinct features, among which are: (1) a 3-c octave foot pedal that combines both swell and great manuals to give a 4-chamber musical expression as one major register; (2) a seventeenth century organ mechanics innovation draw-stop called the 'coupler' which enables the organist to engage key or several keys of a given manual connectedly with keys of another manual above or below the manual control, plus the great organ, the choir organ, the swell organ and a combination stop which elaborates the coupler control, thus enabling the performer to simultaneously register the four basic organ tones as an integral unit inter play.

In addition to the remarkable features of the organ console registrations, the separate 115 bolts amplification system consists of a stationary, rotor motors and pedal accentuation and maintains a suspended elevated position, thus producing pipe organ-like effect.

Organ pre-dedication services are scheduled for June, at which time professional and semi-professional organists including some of Bethel's musical staff will be presented in concert.

W. M. Muldrew, president of the senior music department, Miss Brenda Wilson, music directress, and Mrs. Ester Hicks, general musician and church organist invite the public to share the majestic and sacred beauty of music during the 10:50 a.m. and the 7:00 p.m. worship hours each Sunday. Showers Are Possible

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A slow-moving cool front located in Central Missouri triggered heavy thunderstorms and at least one tornado in northern Arkansas early today.

The National Weather Service said reports of high wind and small hail were numerous.

The State Police reported that an apparent tornado touched down north of Corning about 3:30 a.m. Officers said trees were uprooted and several homes were damaged, but no one was injured.

Five persons were injured when a tornado struck Cassville, Mo., which is about 25 miles northeast of Eureka Springs. The Weather Service said winds of 100 miles an hour were clocked in the storm.

Most of the thunderstorms had weakened and moved into western Tennessee by 6 a.m. and the Weather Service said cloudy to partly cloudy skies with warm temperatures would prevail today.

The Weather Service said the cool front in Missouri was not expected to move much farther south and no change was expected in the Arkansas weather pattern.

Shower and thunderstorm activity was expected to redevelop again late today and move eastward across the state tonight.

Muskie Is Hoping to Improve Organization

By MICHAEL PUTZEL

Associated Press Writer

Sen. George McGovern says he's an underdog in Massachusetts but hopes to improve his organization enough to defeat Sen. Edmund S. Muskie in the April 25 Democratic presidential primary.

McGovern, speaking to newsmen at Boston's Logan International Airport as he began his Massachusetts primary campaign Wednesday, said: "Our organization is not as strong as it should be at this point, but it is coming into place."

Muskie, meanwhile, told six Democratic state officials in Boston he will campaign "as much as is needed to win" in Massachusetts. The six officials are heading Muskie's delegate slate in the state.

Muskie's statement disputed that of a Muskie aide who had said the Maine senator would spend only three days in Massachusetts and depend heavily on a media campaign there while putting in most of the next 12 days in Pennsylvania, which holds its primary the same day.

Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York also was in Boston Wednesday and told reporters she expects her campaign to pick up as she moves into primary states more conducive to her candidacy. She indicated she expected to do well in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New York and Michigan.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas arrived in Boston Wednesday night saying he expected a "good vote" in the primary. "I want to win," he added, "but I'm not kidding myself about it."

Meanwhile, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey flew from Pennsylvania to Maryland, where he told a news conference he expects Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama to be a formidable opponent.

"We intend to take Gov. Wallace's measure and beat him," the Minnesota senator said at a Baltimore airport.

Humphrey and Wallace are the only candidates who have announced they will actively campaign for Maryland's May 16 primary.

Wallace kicked off a four-week, seven-state campaign trip with a tour of Louisiana, where he told a crowd of 1,200 at the Lake Charles airport that race is not an issue in his campaign and wasn't in 1968.

He added, "The limousine liberals who have been advocating so many things for blacks and other groups have been trying to keep the people's mind off the burden that was placed on them by the government. The poor people and the average citizen have been carrying the burden of taxes for too long."

All Data Points to Much Better Economy

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The data continues to come in from almost all directions attesting to the growing strength of the economy as it struggles up from the 1969-1970 recession. Retail sales now contribute to the evidence, taking off in March like a rocket and reaching a height of $36 billion, 2.5 per cent higher than in February. They had been earthbound for many months. Reports of first-quarter profits to be announced during this week and next are likely to make annual meetings more pleasant affairs for executives than they were last year, when they were under constant fire. To cite a few reports made in the past few days: RCA net income up 53 per cent to 47 cents a share in the first quarter; DuPont first quarter net up to $2 from $1.51 a year earlier; International Paper, 45 vs. 33 cents. More workers are participating in the economy. There were 600,000 more people at work in March than in February, and over 2 million more than at this time a year ago. Industrial production continues to rise, as it has now for six months or so, and the average work week continues to grow. Manufacturing employees now put in more than 40 hours a week, best figure in two years. Housing remains off in a world of its own, as it usually is. It is the most volatile aspect of our economy, either in a depression or a boom of its own that no analyst could forecast without weakening his credentials. It is now in an unprecedented boom that could result in as many as 2.5 million conventional housing units being erected this year, to which can be added more than a half-million mobile homes. Averaged out, growth this year will probably be near 6 per cent, which is quite an improvement. If achieved, it would be the greatest since 1966, and it would exceed the economic growth of the past three years together. The economy therefore is expanding nicely, no question about it, although in some respects unevenly. But because the challenge also grows, it probably isn't expanding fast enough. Unemployment continues to plague the nation, not because jobs aren't being created but because the work force expands faster. And as it grows in size it becomes younger and less experienced—and probably more demanding. Productivity, while increasing, is not rising fast enough to keep the United States competitive. For the latter half of the 1960s it averaged a bit more than 2 per cent a year, well below that of other nations. Last year there was an encouraging rise of 3.4 per cent, but this still left the United States far down the list. In Japan, for example, the rate for 1965-1970 was better than 14 per cent. Can it be raised by a combination of management, labor and government skills? That, precisely, is the goal of the Cost of Living Council and the Price Commission and Pay Board. The challenge is far greater than it might be in some other countries. The United States is more service-oriented than other nations, and productivity gains come slowly in the services, which require humans rather than machines. Add to the productivity challenge these others: assimilation into the work force of minority groups, the fight against poverty, the urban predicament, the demands of society for pollution control. Many of these assignments represent expenditures that the nation should have made years ago but did not. Now they cannot be avoided. We have therefore a strong economy and a weak one, the biggest ever but the one with the most to do, a very promising economy but also one with some of its character flaws still uncorrected. URGES FALL CLEANUP AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) — Carlos N. Bailey, an executive advisor to the local Goodwill Industries chapter, urges every household to hold a "fall house cleaning." The unwanted items stored in garages, cellars and attics can become tax deductions when contributed to Goodwill, says Mr. Bailey.

Cholesterol Absent In Shortening

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have had a myocardial infarction and have been particularly interested in the problem of cholesterol. I am on a low cholesterol diet. In one of your columns you said that all shortenings have some cholesterol. Since then I have obtained the listings of the contents of shortenings and some of these do not contain cholesterol. Can you explain this to me. It is very confusing.

Dear Reader—I doubt very much that I ever said all shortenings have cholesterol, because they certainly don't. But all shortenings do contain fat. Some contain more saturated fat than others. A shortening prepared from vegetable sources for example will contain no cholesterol since vegetable products are free of cholesterol. The ingestion of lots of fat, coconut oil for example, which is mostly a saturated fat, can cause the body to produce lots of cholesterol. Whether the cholesterol comes from being produced by the body or from the diet, it can contribute to the increased level of cholesterol in the blood stream which helps cause atherosclerosis.

Most heart specialists think it is wise to restrict saturated fats and this is why coconut oil is not recommended for individuals with these problems. On the other hand, safflower oil and corn oil both have very low amounts of saturated fats and larger amounts of polyunsaturated fats. In the interest of restricting the saturated fats, both safflower oil and corn oil are useful products. However, like all fats they contain many calories.

The analysis you enclosed for a commercial product shows that 26 per cent of its fat is from saturated fat. The amount of saturated fat in corn oil is only about 10 per cent and safflower oil contains even less.

Dear Dr. Lamb — On a radio program about natural foods a man being interviewed about potatoes said they are the best source of vitamin C. Can you tell me if this is true?

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's handbook on foods you are right. Fresh potatoes contain about half the amount of vitamin C of a similar weight of fresh commercial oranges. After three months of storage the amount of vitamin C in potatoes is half its previous level and after six months it is only a third. Nevertheless, fresh potatoes are a good source of vitamin C. To get the maximum advantage of vitamin C, bake freshly dug potatoes in their skin and eat the skin, too.

'Submarine Play' for Safety peace if he thought I had forgotten the safety play he taught me for this kind of hand."

Then Z led his seven of spades.

Poor A, who was still defending against Z's contracts after 40 years, shrugged his shoulders and remarked, "Fixed again." He was right. After this submarine play there was no way for the defense to set the contract. A cashed his club ace to hold Z to four and that was all.

If Z had played out his high trumps he would have been set. B, sitting East, would simply ruff the third diamond with his master trump and dummy's last three diamonds would wither on the vine.

Receives Grant From HEW

WASHINGTON (AP) — St. Vincent Infirmary at Little Rock has received a $775,000 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the office of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Wednesday.

Terrorists also struck at Castlederg in County Tyrone where another car bomb wrecked six shops in the main street and injured two policemen. Their condition was not serious.

Local government offices were blasted in the Roman Catholic border town in Newry after gunmen planted a time bomb.

The bombing in Ballymoney was the first in that County Antrim community.

Money Issue Used by Bumpers Back Again

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The campaign spending issue Gov. Dale Bumpers turned to his advantage in 1970 has cropped up again this year with another slant in another race.

This time it's in the U.S. Senate race, where three Democrats and one Republican are challenging the bid by John L. McClellan for a sixth term.

Bumpers attacked the volume of spending by his 1970 GOP foe, then-Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, but it was generally assumed Rockefeller was spending his own money.

In fact, Rockefeller reported campaign expenditures of $1.3 million and Bumpers reported nearly $300,000.

In the Senate race, Ted Boswell of Bryant, an attorney, has been plugging the spending issue, but his emphasis seems to be on the source of money, not the amount.

He has pledged to disclose the name of every contributor to his campaign and the amount contributed. He has urged his rivals to do the same.

That was the theme struck by Boswell at his first full-scale news conference after he entered the race and he hit the issue again last Saturday at a meeting of the state Young Democrats.

"It is a known fact that certain giant corporations and special interest national committees are furnishing financial support to certain candidates,"

Boswell said. "The people of Arkansas are entitled to know if any candidate for the U.S. Senate in the state of Arkansas is receiving any financial support either directly or through the activities of any individual, business or organization from outside the state," he added.

Boswell said that if any of his own contributors don't want their identity revealed, he'll give the money back.

The challenge by Boswell seemed aimed chiefly at McClellan and another of the challengers, Rep. David Pryor of Camden. The fourth Democrat in the race is Foster Johnson of Little Rock, a real estate dealer who has lost two other bids for the U.S. Senate.

Pryor has received some campaign aid through a Washington, D.C., committee and McClellan apparently has or will.

One campaign fund solicitation for McClellan is being conducted in the name of the McClellan, Ark.-D.C. Committee in Washington, D.C., by Edwin H. Pewett Sr., member of a Washington law firm.

So far, McClellan has not responded directly to Boswell's call for candidates to disclose fund sources.

Pryor, on the other hand, has acknowledged receiving $10,000 from the National Committee for an Effective Congress through the D. C. Committee for Aged Americans."

Blood tests on the prime crew showed that Thomas K. Mattingly II, the command module pilot, was not immune to the disease. As a result, Mattingly was grounded 72 hours before launch and another astronaut went in his place.

'Sort of Straight American'

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Charles Moss Duke Jr., the lunar module pilot on Apollo 16, says he is "sort of straight American" in his outlook, and they don't come much straighter or more deeply felt.

The 36-year-old astronaut likes to talk about his country and the space program and sometimes, when the discussion is intense, tears well up in his eyes and his voice gets husky.

Duke can trace his heritage back to a Virginia ancestor who fought in the American Revolution. He's a member of the American Legion and the Sons of the American Revolution and frequently sports an American flag in his lapel.

The astronaut was born in Charlotte, N.C., one of a set of identical twin boys.

He and his twin brother took different paths through life.

The brother, Dr. William M. Duke, is a physician in Lancaster, and says he's not fond of flying.

But for the brother who is an astronaut, airplanes and the sensation of flight have always been an attraction.

"You get up at 40,000 feet and you're above the clouds, the stars are clear, there's a feeling of movement, the exhilaration of height," says Duke.

Duke chose a military aviation career at an early age and carefully plotted a course toward that goal.

He spent his last two years of high school at a military prep school and won an appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy.

Duke was graduated in 1957, ranked in the upper 10 per cent of his academy class, but found himself washed out of the naval aviation program.

"The doctors found a slight astigmatism in my right eye," he recalls. "It was disqualifying for naval aviation, but not the Air Force."

So Duke took his commission in the Air Force and within two years had graduated with honors from both basic and advanced flying schools.

After three years in a fighter squadron in Germany, Duke won an Air Force scholarship to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he earned a master's degree.

He also met and married a Dorothy Meade Claiborne of Atlanta.

Duke graduated from the Air Force test pilot's school at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., in 1965 and was named an astronaut the following year.

Apollo 16 will be the first space flight for Duke, but he's had a dramatic influence over two earlier missions.

Duke was the capsule communicator for the final few minutes before the Apollo 11 landing—man's first on the moon.

His was the voice from earth that urged on the Apollo 11 astronauts and he was the one who first announced that the spacecraft had come to rest on the moon that July night in 1969.

Plans Day Care for the Senior Citizens

HONOLULU (AP) — Hoping to become the national leader in caring for its elderly, the Hawaii Legislature has passed a law setting up day care centers for senior citizens.

The legislature acted Wednesday after two such centers operated successfully for a year as pilot projects.

"You'd never realize how difficult it is to take care of old people at home," said Mrs. Robert Nakamura, who begins each day by dropping off her 86-year-old father, Chuhei Hada, at the Kuakini Home Day Care Center before she goes to work.

"When my time comes, I hope there's a place like that for me," she added.

Hada is among 15 elderly persons who attend Kuakini, a center financed by an $84,000 federal model cities grant as a demonstration project. If it works in Honolulu, other cities may try it.

At Kuakini, Hada and his companions—most of them between 70 and 80 years old—play games, watch television, take up ceramics or weaving, and even work on such community projects as addressing Easter seal envelopes.

Or, they may decide to get in a bus and go to a movie, a concert or the zoo; or even take a trip around the island of Oahu. They can visit each other in their homes and even do their own banking and other chores.

"The whole idea is to make them feel free and independent," said Kuakini administrator Ralph Maeda. "If somebody says he wants a haircut, we'll take him down and get a haircut. He doesn't have to do anything if he doesn't want to."

Because many senior citizens would have to be placed in nursing homes or other costly institutions, often at state expense, legislators view day care centers as a money saver.

Betty Johnstone operates the other day care center, called Hae Ho'Ola'I, Hawaiian for house of contentment. The center is privately financed and senior citizens pay $150 a month to attend.

"It's just marvelous how much you can help elderly persons when you make a long-term commitment," said Mrs. Johnstone.

April 7 requires congressmen to reveal the name of contributors who make gifts after that day. The gifts to Pryor were made before that date, but he said the date had nothing to do with the timing of the contribution.

"It was only a matter of convenience for these people in Washington," he said. "It was given shortly after I announced for the Senate and was not rushed to avoid being reported."

"In fact, this committee itself, I understand, reported the contribution and that was why it was reported several weeks ago in the Washington Star and, subsequently, in the Arkansas Gazette," Pryor said.

"I have not always voted exactly as this particular group desired, but I have always listened to their point of view, as I have to all other groups."

The Committee for an Effective Congress was established 25 years ago because of what it felt to be a dangerous concentration of power by then-President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The purpose of the organization is to locate and encourage persons the organization believes are not able and talented public officials.

Among the current board members of the committee are authors Barbara Tuchman and James Michener and Harry S. Ashmore, formerly of the Arkansas Gazette.

The way Boswell is pressing the issue, the money question is certain to loom larger in the campaign.

This week, for example, the four top officers of the state Young Democrats endorsed Boswell and said in a prepared statement that their reasons included concern about fund sources.

"Perhaps most importantly of all we are gravely concerned over the persistent rumors of large amounts of out-of-state money flowing into Arkansas to influence the outcome of this race," said their statement.

"We sincerely hope these rumors are not true, and we call upon each candidate in the race to reveal these contributions and explain to the people why out-of-state interests want to buy a U.S. Senate seat in Arkansas," the statement said.

Receives Two Awards

W.H. CLEMENTS

SUMTER, S.C.—U.S. Air Force Captain William H. Clements, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Clements, 638 Woodward Ave., Orlando, Fla., is shown receiving two awards of the Distinguished Flying Cross for aerial achievement in Southeast Asia.

Captain Clements distinguished himself as an RF-4C Phantom tactical reconnaissance navigator when he flew two night, unarmed, low altitude reconnaissance missions over one of the most heavily defended areas in Southeast Asia.

He was honored in ceremonies at Shaw AFB, S.C., where he now serves as a weapon systems operator instructor in a unit of the Tactical Air Command. TAC provides combat units for air support of U.S. ground forces.

The captain, a 1957 graduate of Winter Park (Fla.) High School, received his B.S. degree in business administration in 1961 from The Citadel, Charleston, S.C. He was commissioned there through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

His wife, Nancy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lewis of 408 E. Olive St., Prescott, Ark.

Amendment Good for State

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs, a Democratic candidate for governor, said Wednesday he thought the Mack-Blackwell Amendment had been good for the state and that he opposed its abolishment.

The amendment, approved following a highway scandal in the early 1950s, was designed to remove the affairs of the state Highway Department from the executive branch of government.

Gov. Dale Bumpers, who is seeking a second term in the Democratic primary, said recently that he was not certain that anything is ever completely removed from politics.

"The people of Arkansas passed this amendment and it has been good for the state," Hurst said.

"What is needed is a governor who can work with the members of the Highway Commission and not one that publicly criticizes them," Hurst said. "When I'm elected governor, I will work with the members of the Highway Commission because I know the members of the commission are just as interested as I am in building highways and roads that will benefit all the people and stimulate our economic growth."

The tiger takes infinite pains in stalking prey.

Conference on Closing Gap Between Rich, Poor

By BRUCE HANDLER
Associated Press Writer
SANTIAGO (AP) — Thousands of delegates from six continents gathered in Santiago today for the U.N. Conference on Trade and Development, Grant Condition Approved

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP) — One of the conditions imposed in connection with approval of a controversial grant to the Lee County Cooperative Clinic here has been worked out, it was announced Wednesday.

Olly Neal Jr., administrator of the clinic, said that at least three members of an advisory committee requested by officials had been selected.

The formation of an advisory committee for the clinic was one of the conditions imposed in connection with approval of a $1.2 million Office of Economic Opportunity grant. The conditions were worked out in negotiations between OEO officials and the office of Gov. Dale Bumpers.

Neal said Dr. Joe Manley would represent the state Comprehensive Health Planning Agency; Ed Wrench would represent the state Regional Medical Program, and that Dr. Francis Henderson would represent the Arkansas Health Systems Foundation. Other members of the committee will come from the Eastern Arkansas Planning and Development District and the state Health Department.

The clinic was established to provide health care for the poor in Lee County. Many whites claim activity at the clinic is responsible for racial problems in the area.

Major Developments Expected in Mine Worker Murder

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Government sources say more major developments are expected in the 1969 murders of United Mine Workers insurgent John A. "Jock" Yablonski and his wife and daughter.

The disclosure followed Wednesday's arrest on federal conspiracy charges in Lake County, Tenn., of William Jackson Prater, 52, an official of the UMW's District 19 who became a path person taken into custody in connection with the killings.

The conspiracy doesn't end there, one well-informed source said after Prater's indictment by a federal grand jury in Pittsburgh and his arrest by the FBI.

"It goes much higher," the source said, "and we expect more important developments."

Prater was charged with conspiring to close the widening gap between the world's rich and poor nations.

Opponents of Chile's leftist government took advantage of this international stage in their midst and held the biggest demonstration to date against President Salvador Allende's regime Wednesday night.

Representatives from 141 countries and more than 40 international organizations are expected to be present for U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim's opening address to the conference—called UNCTAD III. The delegates will remain for five weeks, trying to right some of the wrongs the United Nations says exist in world trade.

Naked Guest at Meeting

NEW DELHI (AP) — A naked holy man was in the audience of a religious meeting addressed by Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, but she apparently was not aware of it.

Acharya Desh Bhushan Maharaj, spiritual leader of the Jain religion, strode into Parliament House totally nude Wednesday for a meeting called to commemorate Mahavira, founder of the Jain religion.

The Jain pontiff was undressed because he, like other advanced members of the sect, considers clothing a badge of mankind's lost innocence and a barrier to communion with nature and God.

Security officials said they couldn't do anything about his presence because of his large following and the fact that he was a guest of the government.

But one of Mrs. Gandhi's aides said the naked guest was blocked from Mrs. Gandhi's eyes by a table.

—Money. Under the current international monetary system, controlled by industrialized nations, when a rich country devalues its currency to protect itself, helpless poor countries suffer.

—Shipping. Poor countries that produce basic crops and raw materials provide about 40 per cent of the world's sea cargoes. But they have only eight per cent of all the shipping tonnage.

—Tariffs. Rich countries say poor countries should depend less on basic agricultural products and therefore should develop manufacturing. The United Nations feels industrialized countries should not tax manufactured goods imported from developing countries.

—Commodities. Poor countries produce much of the world's raw materials—oil, coffee, cotton, mineral ores and animal products. But the rich countries generally control prices for these items.

—Aid. The UNCTAD I conference in 1964 said rich countries should give one per cent of their total annual production of goods and services to poor countries. But there is growing sentiment in rich countries against foreign "giveaways." And the poor countries are repaying billions of dollars in interest repaying loans they got from rich ones.

DANGEROUS DRIVERS
DUBLIN (AP) — In the first 10 months of last year there were 1,115 hit-and-run motorist accidents in the Irish Republic, resulting in 22 deaths. Only 487 drivers were caught and prosecuted. Two were sent to prison. Twenty-nine were given the benefit of the Probation Act as it was their first offense.

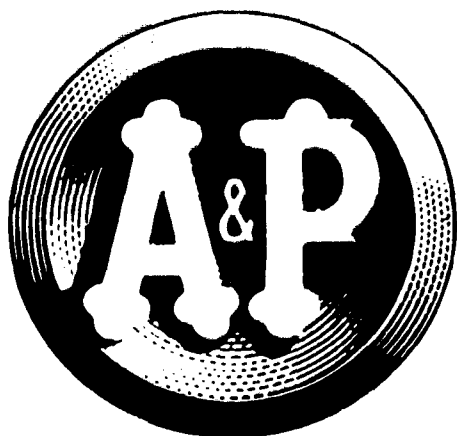

against her father and companion defendant, Silas Huddleston.

Like his daughter, Huddleston, 63, faces state charges of murder and conspiracy. He is scheduled to go on trial next week.

Huddleston is a former president of a UMW local in District 19 and has been identified by the government as a friend of Prater. Both men are from La Follette, Tenn.

Prater was taken to the Knox County jail in Knoxville, where U.S. Magistrate Harvey M. Dugans set bond at $200,000. Proceedings dealing with Prater's removal to Pennsylvania were expected to begin in Knoxville today before U.S. District Court Judge Robert L. Taylor.

It would be up to Pennsylvania authorities to determine whether Prater should be charged at the state level also, the FBI said.

New York Gang War Deadly

By ARTHUR EVERETT
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — As the deadliest gangland warfare in a decade swept across New York City these past two weeks, Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy observed of the combatants:
"They play for high stakes. They live dangerously. They sometimes die by the gun they live by."
During the two weeks, seven have died in underworld-style, slain by the gun. Murphy today had hundreds of police engaged in an effort to end the shooting. From the commissioner, his men had this mandate:
"We cannot permit the streets of this city to become a battleground for gang warfare."

Three of the biggest names in organized crime figured in the current underworld drama.
There was Joseph Colombo, 48, youngest of all the Cosa Nostra chieftains, now comatose with brain damage from a bullet in the head last June.
There was Joey "Crazy Joe" Gallo, 43, a flashy mobster assassinated last Friday, a decade after he had lost a war for control of the crime family later taken over by Colombo.
And there was Carlo "Don Carlo" Gambino, whom authorities call the underworld's boss of bosses—a courtly figure who resembles the "Godfather" of the novel and movie. Police questioned him when the rumblings of war began in his empire.

A suave, gray-haired 69, Gambino came here from his native Palermo, Sicily, in 1921, a stowaway who made it ashore at Norfolk, Va., He is currently under deportation order.
His 1,000-member Cosa Nostra family is said by federal authorities to be deeply involved in loan sharking, waterfront crime, gambling and construction and labor rackets.
A Senate committee in 1963 heard testimony that Gambino and the late Vito Genovese teamed to bring about the 1957 rubout of Mafia chieftain Albert Anastasia, shot to death in a barber's chair in a midtown hotel.

The late Joe Valachi, the mobster-turned-informant, claimed that the contract to kill Anastasia was let by Gambino to the Gallo brothers—Joey, Albert and Larry.
Anastasia's crime family was taken over by Gambino. And when Genovese died in prison in 1969, authorities said Gambino succeeded him as high commissioner of organized crime.
Colombo directed a gang of about 200, described as active in construction, linen supply and liquor rackets, bookmaking and shylocking. The Justice Department listed him with Gambino as one of the Cosa Nostra's eight national commissioners.
Colombo was shot June 28, 1971, while leading an Italian-American rally in Columbus Circle. His assailant, a black posing as a professional photographer, was gunned down on the spot, presumably by Colombo henchmen.

Reseachers Report Vision Deficiency in Children

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Perhaps 11 per cent of school children aged 3 to 10 may have a certain mild color vision deficiency, researchers reported today.
Because of the unrecognized vision problem, the researchers said, the child might be classed as a poor performer, a slow learner or as having a reading problem. This could produce emotional disturbances, they added.
As a result of a study of school children in Houston, Tex., an evaluation is under way at Bethesda, Md., to see if a link can be established between this vision difficulty and learning problems.

The study was reported to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology by Dr. Humphrey F. Sassoon of the Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences, Houston.
Sassoon is now at the Federation's Life Sciences Research Office in Bethesda.
The researchers said the deficiency concerns "blue vision," one of three wave bands of light that people see, along with green and red.
Commonly used tests to determine color blindness usually detect a condition severe enough to keep an adult from certain jobs, but are not very good for detecting blue vision defects, the researchers said.
The tests, therefore, are used almost entirely to detect severe color blindness and are seldom given to children.
"A child who has even a mild deficiency of blue vision may have difficulty in seeing the faint blue lines ruled as guides on his writing paper," the report said. "He may be slow at recognizing 'sight saving' yellow chalk marks on a blue-green board."

"When given a school test that has been duplicated in the usual faint violet color, he may still be struggling to read it when classmates, whom he knows to be his equals or inferiors, have finished and time is up," the report said.
"Eventually, however high his intelligence, he may be categorized as a poor performer, a slow learner, perhaps with 'dyslexia' (a reading difficulty)." Such a child whose vision problem is not understood, could easily become emotionally disturbed.
All this emerged by chance when Sassoon and colleagues screened a Houston school for another purpose. More than half of the 3-year-olds made errors typical of mild blue-vision deficiency. Eleven per cent of the 10-year-olds made similar errors.
The deficiency may be permanent since a study of adults, made as a check, found that 11 per cent had a mild blue-vision deficiency.

Everyone Has a Chore

Even Dixie the elephant has a hand in getting the circus ready when it comes to town. Above is shown Dixie helping to set up the big top of the Fisher Bros. Circus. If you are interested in seeing her do her part of erecting the show drop out by the circus grounds next Sunday. The show is brought to Hope by the Phi Beta Lambda for one performance at 2:30 p.m.
You will also see the various members of the circus family doing their various parts in getting the circus ready to entertain you. Some of the actors will be getting their props and equipment inside the tent, others will be washing or cleaning costumes. The property men will be hanging trapeze riggings, setting up the ring curbs, etc. Canvas men will be getting the tent up and the seats in place. The animal men will be seeing that their charges are fed and watered and readied for their performance, and most important to everyone connected the cook will be preparing tasty meals for all employees.

Many people who come to the circus never stop to think of all the efforts that have been made to make their visit an enjoyable one, others wonder how all this is accomplished in so short a time. If you are one of these persons, you and anyone else who wish are invited down to the show grounds to see Dixie and all the other circus employees get things done in so short a time. Dixie and most of these people will also take the tent down again as soon as the show is over. Everyone has a job to do, everything has a special place to be loaded and seldom is anything ever left on the lot after the circus has left town.
Get your tickets from the sponsor ahead of time and save time, money, and help the sponsor make a much larger amount of money which they use in various civic projects.

Scene at Siagon Is Deceiving to Visitor

SAIGON (AP) — "But this seems just like Broad Street on a busy summer day," said the Philadelphia doctor's wife arriving in Saigon to join her husband.
On the flight across the Pacific she had talked with rising excitement about entering the war zone. It unfurled before her on the way from the airport—the battlefield, a street crammed with automobiles and motorcycles; the weapons, honking horns and revving motors.
Over it all, not the smell of gunpowder but the fetid odor of the Saigon canals hanging in the humid air.
Further into the city, the hot pavement became cooler tree-lined boulevards where pretty girls in silken white dresses waited at traffic intersections. The glass-walled coffee shops of Tu Do Street revealed the blandly contented faces of relaxed men at ease.
The only indication of war was a television cameraman, his unshaven face blackened by the sun, his green uniform dirty, as he wearily lugged a movie camera through traffic to the Continental Hotel.
A diplomat's wife talked excitedly, not of war but of the Davis Cup Eastern Zone tennis matches played in Saigon earlier in the week between Japan and Vietnam.

One day in Saigon and your ears and eyes tell you the news media have gone mad, that there is no North Vietnamese offensive, no tank battles, no lost district towns and abandoned fire bases. The whole thing must be an echo of a bloody past.
But ask a few questions and the truth comes out.
On the critical day in the Davis Cup competition, there was a major battle 37 miles north of Saigon. The smoke the Philadelphia woman had noticed from the plane was not a brushfire as you had informed her. It was a U.S. bombing attack on a North Vietnamese ambush along Route 13.
A wounded colleague tells how he watched North Vietnamese troops up north casually carrying cooking pots and relaxing just across the river from Dong Ha. This in a war where the enemy used to be visible usually only when he was dead, so concerned was he with the need for cover
